Inaugural Lecture: What do political philosophers think about, when they think about migration?

Nils Holtug’s Inaugural Lecture as Professor of Political Philosophy. Access the link here: https://amis.ku.dk/affiliated/?id=108101&vis=medarbejder

In his talk, Nils Holtug will pinpoint major trends in contemporary work on migration in political philosophy. What are the main issues, where are we heading, and in what ways do contributions from political philosophy differ from those of other disciplines?

27 May 2014, 15:00-17:00, Room 27.0.09 (KUA), University of Copenhagen.

The lecture is organized by the Department for Media, Cognition and Communication and Centre for Advanced Migration Studies (AMIS).

PhD course: Comparative Studies in Migration and Memory

The PhD School at the Faculty of Humanities at University of Copenhagen offers a PhD course on Comparative Studies in Migration and Memory on 6-7 November 2014.

At a time when transnational mobility is both noticeable and controversial, it matters greatly that we better understand the human experience of migration: its subjective histories, social processes and imaginative implications. Registration deadline: 3rd October.

The course is co-sponsored by AMIS.

Please read more about the course on the AMIS website through this link.
